ONLY ONE FAVORITE WINS. THREE RACES THAT WERE SURPRISES AT SARATOGA YESTERDAY.

re Valuable Herses Lest to the Turf by Accidente-Ellas Lawrence, Gabriel, King-eraft, and Springfield Carry of the Frisce. Baratoga, Aug. 9.—As in the last two days' races, the favorites were saved from a rout by the victory of only one horse. To-day it was Kingeraft. In the first race Turfman became the favorite just before the close of the pools, but Elias Lawrence won his race for the first time. The next event was such a sure thing for the Irish King that the bookmakers offered extrawagant odds against the others, and in consequence lest heavily on Gabriel, against whom odds of 12 to 1 were laid. An infortunate accident occurred in this race whereby two valuable horses are lost to the urf. Danicheff, who held a good position at the top of the stretch, in the run home was seen to stop suddenly. The cause soon became appa-rent, as he began to limp, and it was found that one of his fore logs was broken above the fetlock. He will probably have to be killed. The other case was that of Belle. She crossed the finishing line with the field, and when she was pulled up it was found that she had broken the tendons of one of her fore legal god that she will probably to the control of the the field, and when she was pulled up it was a most impossible to got bets on him, the bookmakers being very wary—made so by the experience of the previous race. The result justified such a bod start was given in the last race that only four horses were really in, but the result satisfied the holders of Springfield tickets, as they realized $454 for $5. The weather was all that could be desired, and the waste was in noon of $350 of which $50 went to the second horse entrance free; for 3-yearfolds, to carry 110 lbs., with the usual allowance to fillies and geidings; winners of any sweepstakes for 3-year olds at Saratoga, excluded; maldens, winners of second money this year at Saratoga, allowed 5 lbs.; other maidens allowed 10 lbs.; one mile and a furlong. The following started: Elias Lawrence, Truffman, Clarendon, Democrat, Bravo, and Mayflower. $30.

In the upper backstroch, Turfman pushed to the front and led by half a length to the half-mile pole. Elias Lawrence, and Clarendon running neck and neck, and Bravo, Democrat, and Mayflower. $30.

The League Record to the End of the West-ern Nines' Tour in the East.

The record of the League games for the period ending with the last tour of the Western nines to the East, closing Aug. 9, shows the sight clubs occupying the following relative positions: Chicago, Providence, Cleveland, Troy, Worcester, Boston, Buffalo, and Cincin-nati, The figures of the record are appended:

	Biotim	Buffaio	Chicago	Oncinnuti	Clessiand	Providence	Trep	Worester	Comes Won.
Boston Buffale Chicago Chicagnati Chevaland Providence Froy Worcester	3040030	0 624772	30 :-22:-1	545 4777	424- 625	1 27 1 3 4	418072	1783333	24 10 43 11 26 31 25
Games lost	200	34	10	30	22	21	25	26	200

It is not easy to see how the Chicago record of victories can be excelled by that of any other League nine. The nearest is the Providence nine, and their record of victories and defeats is 31 and 21, against Chicago's 43 and 10. The Clevelands meet the Worcesters in Cleveland this week. Thus far they stand even—3 to 3—in won games from each other. Troy plays in Buffalo.

BASE BALL AT BEIGHTON BEACH.

An unusually fine exhibition of professional base ball playing was given on the extemporized ball field at the Brighton Beach Race Course, yesterday, under decidedly adverse circumstances. The occasion was a match arranged to be played between the two isading mines in the national championship arena, the Nationals of Washington and the Rochester Club team. Owing to a misunderstanding of dates, the Rochesters had arranged to be in town to-day, instead of Monday, they playing and defeating the League team of Buffalo at Rochester, yesterday, by 6 to 5. The Nattonals, loarning of this yesterday afternoon made arrangements to play a picked nine in the place of the Rochesters, and, as it turned out, the field team proved too strong for them. Lynch was the pitcher and Snyder the catcher for the Nationals, but Lynch unfortunately was disabled by the breaking of one of the sinews of his right arm in the very first infing, and he had to be attended by a physician at the Brighton Hotol. Gerhardt took his place. Derby and Baker, the change pitcher and catcher of the Nationals, played on the field side and with such a skill that the Nationals could with difficulty make three base hits in the entire game. On the other side, after the first two innings, the pitching of Gerhardt prevented runs being scored; but before that the field side got in aix runs, and finally won the game by six to three. The game to-morrow will be begun at 4 P. M. under the National rules and the National tariff of 25 cents admission.

LESTER'S ELOPEMENT,

Leaving his Wife and Child and Going Away

Joseph H. Lester, a young carpenter, who lived with his wife and child at 249 Eighteenth street, Brooklyn, recently disappeared from his home, after having sold his horse and wagon and collected all the money that he could. He left a dollar in the house for his wife to keep her until he returned, and took with him all the rest of the money he could find. About the same time Lillie Watts, the daughter of a salesman employed in a large down-town wholesale house in this city, also disappeared. The two had been seen together frequently, and as Miss Watts knew that Lester was married, it was not deemed probable that they had eloped together. But the father soon received a letter which set at rest his doubts about this. The couple were traced to Philadelphia, and the girl's father applied to Superintendent Campbell of Brooklyn for a detective to arrest Lester for bigamy or abduction. Detective Riggs accompanied the father to Justice Walsh's court to obtain a warrant, but as there was no evidence that the couple had been married, and as the girl was 16 years old the charge of abduction could not be maintained, and no warrant was issued.

A watch was kept upon the couple in Philadelphia, and late hast week Detective Riggs learned that they had started to return to Brooklyn, and had shipped some of their baggage. Through the express office the detective learned that the baggage had been taken to 79 Carlton avenue. Brooklyn. He went there in the afternoon and found Miss Watts overseeing the preparations to go to housekeeping in apartments that Lester had hired. The furniture had arrived, and the young woman seemed already overworked in her household duties. When Detective Riggs told her that he was seeking her at her father's request Miss Watts began to weep, and between her sobs she made a full confession. She said that she had gone off with Lester voluntarily, although she knew that he was married. She said that she was ready to go home if her father would take her back. Miss Watts at once abandoned her house-keeping arrangements and accompanied the detective to Police Headquarters, where she met her father, who in the meantime had been summoned. There was an affecting scene, and the Superintendent and the detective turned away tearfully. The daughter then went with her father to some relatives in New Jersey.

Lester, finding no housekeeper at 79 Carlton avenue upon his return, went back to his old home. His wife, after some time spent in explanations and childings forgave him, and they agreed to remove to another part of the city to try to live happily together. plied to Superintendent Campbell of Brooklyn for a detective to arrest Lester for bigamy or

COLORED LAWYER AND CLIENT.

The Outcome of Litigation Caused by a Voluminous Red Bandanna. For the first time in the history of the General Sessions, probably the oldest court of record in the United States, a colored lawyer appeared yesterday to defend one of his own race. The lawyer was John F. Quarles, formerly of the bar of the District of Columbia and United States Shipping Commissioner to Spain. The client, Mary Carr, has been one of the singers of old Southern plantation airs with Haverly's Troubadour Minstrels. She was indicted for an assault, with intent to kill, upon Aderle Fuller, a singer in the same troupe. Adele Fuller testified that the women singers wear large bandannas on their heads, in the true Southern fashion, to match their calloo gowns. Her gown was of blue calico on the evening of the 28th ult. and Mary Carr's was yellow. She had dressed herself for the stage, when Mary Carr entered the dressing room, complaining that she could not find her bandanna. She opened a drawer and took out a red bandanna belonging to a friend, who had asked the witness to look after her costume. She asked-Mary Carr not to take the handkerchief. Mary said, "I want you to tak you mout off n me, young woman," and advanced threateningly toward her. The witness raised her arm to defend herself, and Mary Carr stabbed her in the arm. the singers of old Southern plantation airs eningly toward her. The witness raised her arm to defend herself, and Mary Carr stabbed her in the arm.

Mary Carr testified that she supposed that she had a right to any handkerchief, as the entire wardrobe in the dressing room belonged to the management. She took the handkerchief from the drawer, tied it about her head, and began to pare her nails. Adele Fuller tried to take the handkerchief from her, and her arm struck against the knife.

Mr. Quarles argued that, as the only evidence in the case was that of the two principals, the jury ought to come to the conclusion that it created a doubt as to whether the cutting was the result of design or accident, and acquit the prisoner.

Securities that Gen. Sherman's Soldiers were

In the course of Gen. Sherman's march through the Southern States a bank in Charles-ton was robbed of fifty $1,000 bonds of the Blue Ridge Railroad Company, issued in 1858, and of other securities. It was alleged that the robbery was committed by soldiers who were with Gen. Sherman. Thos. Kenison of Columbia. S. C., was also robbed of several $500 bonds of the Augusta and Waynesborough Railroad the Augusta and Waynesborough Railroad Company, issued in 1850. A man who gave his name as Milo A. Boynton, a lawyer of Grand Rapids, Mich., was arrosted yesterday by Detectives Golden, Reiliy, and Sevin of Inspector Byrnes's staff, while offering for sale one of each of the above-named bonds at the banking house of Zimmerman, Walsh & Co., 19 Wall street. He had previously offered them to Levi & Co., 8 Wall street, In the Manusta and Waynesborough Railway bond offered by him was numbered 376, and the Blue Ridge Railway bond 816. The latter was signed, by R. T. W. Alliston, who was Governor of South Carolina at the time it was issued.

Boynton claims that he received both bonds in payment for professional services from a client, a widow, who had a brother in Gen. Sherman's division, and that he did not know that they had been stolen. Boynton was locked up at the Police Central Office.

THE GLEN ISLAND ACCIDENT.

The Steamhoat Erastus Corning Laid Up for Repairs-Nature of her Mishap.

The steamboat Erastus Corning of Starin's Glen Island line, which ran upon a snag near the lower dock on the island on Sunday night. was laid up for repairs in Gowanus Bay yester-day. She was in shallow water when she struck, and sunk to the depth of six or eight inches at the stern. She had reached her landing before the St. Nicholas, which was near at hand, got alongside. There were 500 or 600 hand, got alongside. There were 500 or 600 persons on the Corning at the time of the accident, and until the extent of the disaster was known considerable excitement and confusion prevailed. Life proservers were plentifully distributed, and the passengers were all provided for. One drunken man who tried to leap overboard was held back by passengers. The excursionists nearly all availed themselves of the opportunity to return to their homes in New York and Brooklyn on the St. Nicholas. The St. Nicholas is a smaller boat than the Corning, and she was compelled to make two trips to take in all the excursionists, so that some of them did not reach their homes till in the early morning hours. During the commotion on the Corning, pickpockets reaped a harvest of wallets and watches. The Corning will probably resume her trips this week.

Edward Reinhardt's Misstvings.

Edward Roinhardt, the condemned wife murderer, confined in the Richmond County fall, is less cheerful since the execution of Cox and Baibo. The remarkable courage which he has shown during the whole of his imprisonment, nearly twenty-three months, now seems to be failing. His case is to be argued before the Court of Appeals next month. Reinhardt awaited with much interest the decision of the tower-or in the case of Baibo, and he now fully believes that if the Court of Appeals decides against him, his last chance will be gone. He has repeatedly said that rather than die on the gallows he will do away with himself. Sheriff Coimor declares that it would not be a very difficult matter for Reinhardt to commit shielde, niless the Supervisors make provision for an extra keeper, so that a close watch could be kept over the condemned murderer at all times.

Peter and Johann Zengerle and their families, eight persons in all, strived at Castle Garden on Satur-day last from Prussia in the stramship Nederland. They were entitled out of the Garden by a runner of the emi grant bearding house of Louis Scheenfeld, Sifroadway, who prefessed to have letters for from from relatives in South Hend, Ind. Scheenfeld managed to keep the party in his house scaling their waiter until personal party in his house scaling their waiter waiter and and the little could not quit the house their it was paid. They paid the bill and returned to the Garten, where they took their experience to Supernitendent Jackson. The Commissioners investigated the story, and sent an officer to Scheenfeld sizes to take his sungrant rainer's backform him, and compel the reparament of the $24, which, the Commissioners claimed, was extorted under false preferoes.

In the Jefferson Market Police Court yesterany John Behan, driver of a Bleecker street car, com-plained of Theodors Longaireet of 244 West Fourth street for malicious mischief and assault and battery. Longstreet while riding in Behan's car, pulled the bell rope and stopped the car at every cross street. Behan remoistrated, and Longstreet threats his hand through the glass of the door and arrick the driver in the face. Justice Murray fined the prisoner $10.
